ORR Revue Celebrates Irving Berlin

By Shawn Badgley

In planning Old Rochester Regional High School's 2013 Alumni Summer Production, Director Paul Sardinha was forced to drop the contemporary in favor of the classic just four days before auditions were set to start.

Because a Broadway touring company was presenting "Legally Blonde" within a certain geographical radius and time frame, rights issues dictated that Sardinha and his crew find a new musical.

"It was two months before we were going to open," said Sardinha, who has led the Drama Club for 21 of his 24 years at ORR. "We needed to produce something really quick."

So, he and his Assistant Director, Sheila Furtado, reached back into the past for a show they put together in 1995: The "Irving Berlin Revue." Their celebration of the legendary songwriter's catalog had found success in locales as close as the Marion Art Center and as far-flung as Bainbridge Performing Arts in Seattle.

"It's a great journey across Irving Berlin's huge body of work," Sardinha said. "It's family-oriented, cabaret-style, with black dresses and tuxedos and costume pieces and props. Everybody knows at least 10 of these songs."

The revue, at two and a half hours, contains 40 songs, including "There's No Business Like Show Business," "Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better," "My Wife's Gone to the Country," and "God Bless America." The cast is comprised of 46 ORR Drama Club alumni and current students.

Conductor Michael Amaral, Class of 2007, said he was commuting from Danvers, where he teaches music, to participate in the production.

"It's a thrill to be back working with Paul and Sheila," Amaral said. "This is my third alumni production. It's always nice to be back. Paul says 'Jump,' and I say 'How high?'"

During a recent rehearsal, Sardinha, Furtado, Amaral and Costume Designer Helen Blake took the cast through various numbers and exercises for upward of three hours on a Wednesday evening, with opening night a week away. Furtado, for her part, was impressed.

"These are young adults who understandably had little concept of the Great American Songbook," she said. "Their homework was to YouTube all of the videos. They are embracing it, enjoying it, and making it their own. I admire them. These young voices doing the songs: It gives me goose bumps."

The "Irving Berlin Revue" runs August 1, 2 and 3 at 7:30 pm, and August 4 at 2:00 pm, at the ORR Auditorium. Tickets ($15 general admission/$12 students and seniors) are available at the Marion General Store, the Plumb Corner Market and Pen & Pendulum. For more information, call 774-265-0081.

See You at the Movies

This Mattapoisett Life

By Marilou Newell

July 27, 3:00 am, awake and unable to get back to sleep, I try to think of something peaceful, or nothing at all, practice meditation, or remember a Bible verse. Finally, I get up and stealthily descend the stairs. Avoiding the creaking floorboards, I enter a world that is neither late nor early. Moments after the TV is on, I find escape, absorption and distraction. Before 9:00 am, I'd watched, Farewell My Concubine, Tender Mercies, and Fireflies in the Garden. I have been thoroughly entertained by a very eclectic combination, for sure. Movies. Just typing the word conjures up an earlier time, a time when going to the movies wasn't such a passive activity; it required effort. It was a time of Friday night dates, Saturday afternoon matinees and the drive-in theater.

From the time I was old enough to understand human voices, I heard the stories of my mother's girlhood and her unlimited access to motion pictures. Back in the day, both her mother and grandmother were "matrons" at the theaters situated in the tiny village of Onset. Those ladies were a dynamic duo. They'd clean the theater before and after the showings, walk the aisles keeping law and order, and even clean the bathrooms. I can't tell you how many times my mother recounted scenes not from the movies she saw, but from the stories told to her by her Ma and Gramma. One of her favorites was that the hardworking matrons found women, without a doubt, dirtier than men. Of course, these opinions came from their restroom cleaning adventures, details of which you will be spared. This was the Depression Era. Women were scraping for any type of work to help feed their families, even work they found innately unpleasant. Not quite Dickensian, but close.

My mother was oftentimes allowed free admission by the manager, who took pity on the little girl waiting for her mother's shift to end. Other times, her grandmother would slide a pass along from her perch inside the ticket booth. Either way, there wasn't a movie running that my mother didn't see numerous times.

There was the Temple Theater and the Onset. Imagine two large theaters in that tiny Victorian town. By the mid-1950s, both buildings were boarded up. The height of their glory years spanned between the 1920s and the 1940s. Their demise was twofold: more automobiles owned by more people, hence greater access to venues further from home; and the invention of television.

But for many, the memory of Saturday afternoon of popcorn or a candy bar." This gentleman went on to share that "New Bedford was loaded with motion picture shows. There was the Capitol, Center, Olympia, Empire, State, Rialto, Baylies Square, the original Zeiterion, and the Orpheum." When asked what he liked to see the most, without hesitation he said, "Cowboys and Indians!"

"We only had radio back then, so the movies were the thing ... After watching a Western, we'd put our ears to the railroad tracks near our house because we were Indian Scouts!" he added.

Another person of a particular age remembers his movie going this way: "The Criterion theatre in East Rockaway, N.Y., was our Saturday afternoon home away from home. John Wayne came along to bring our childhood war games to real life in Sands of Iwo Jima. Funny and confusing since, three years earlier, Mr. Wayne had also morphed into similar heroic acts against Native American Indians in Fort Apache. Back to 1951, Hollywood trended to the dark side with one of the scariest movies we could imagine: The Thing. Kids who had seen it the week before had warned us to do sneak peeks and not look during certain frightening scenes. I clearly remembered the queue at one point and put my jacket sleeve up to my eye (as if it were a periscope), reluctantly cheating on the previous friendly advice."

A husband and wife team remember their years growing up in New York's boroughs and bring us the following: "We went to the Pioneer Theater because our parents dropped us off there on Saturdays to get rid of us for a few hours!"

The wife went on to share, "It had holes in the roof, so on rainy days you might get wet, but we didn't care."

I love this slice of life that she finished her reminisces with: "Our neighborhood was small, yet we couldn't go far because bad neighborhoods surrounded us and we didn't have money for the bus or a car, so when someone got married at the local church, everyone went there to watch the ceremony. Life centered around the church and the theater."

The husband said, "Movies were the escape, an adventure; even walking there was a big deal because you were leaving the few blocks that were your everyday

Still another person whose vintage recollections add dimension and texture to those days: "I'm from Hartford, Conn., we had big theaters on Main Street." He described the interiors as plush with painted frescos, chandeliers, grand resplendence as the screens came to life with the much loved line-up of "News of the Day," cartoons and a double feature.

I didn't go to the movie theater very often as a kid, but I do remember seeing an Elvis flick. The film had been colorized using new processes called Technicolor. Elvis' hair was tar pit black, shirt iridescent red, and slacks shimmering blue. Oh, Elvis, he was such a vision for my pubescent eyes, even in unbelievable hues not available in the natural world.

The drive-in theaters were really my favorite. You got to wear your PJs outside the house, play on the swings and slides before the movies started, and eat deep fried foods, ice cream, and/or candy, while lounging on the hood of the car watching the show. Once the mosquitos got too aggressive, I'd scramble into the backseat and usually fall asleep to the tin can voices from the window speaker.

From the Smithsonian website we learn that in 1933, Richard Hollingshead opened the first drive-in in Camden, New Jersey. He was an auto-parts salesman who understood American's love of the automobile. Pairing the activity of watching a movie while sitting inside one's prize possession, the automobile, was genius on his part.

Hollingshead had to experiment for a few years before he could figure out the best way to position the cars in the lot for viewing pleasure. He came up with a graduated ramp system placing the cars at different heights. The concept of drive-in movies, however, didn't really take off until the development of the in-car speakers in the early 1940s. Another reason that people gravitated to the open-air theaters was the flexibility. They could bring their babies, they could smoke, they could carry in their own snacks and drinks. By 1958, there were approximately 4,000 drive-in movie theaters in the U.S., while today there are about 400 that struggle to stay open. Interesting side note: China is suddenly becoming enthralled with drive-in theaters, as more and more Chinese own cars.

Another family member was an usher at the Wareham drive-in. Uncle John loved the movies and he loved his job at the drive-in. He'd walk between the rows with his flashlight making sure nothing bad was happening, like people drinking beer or making out. Years later, when he lived with my parents, he and my mother would stay up late at night watching all the old black and white films on TV with the lights out, as if they were in a movie theater or the drive-in.

The film industry's financiers understood the mechanics of turning a profit: the movie needed to play frequently. In that regard, the drive-ins were a lost leader. The "A" movies were aired indoors numerous times per day before ever being released to the drive-ins. Hence, the drive-ins often got the "B" quality films while waiting for the better flicks. Alas, it is a sad fact that as drive-ins began to decline in popularity, the films they could get were also declining – many resorted to pornography to keep the business going. Today, I think the nearest outside theater is in Wellfleet, and they do air first-rate movies. It is a tribute to a time gone by.

The movies still leave lasting memories for us. My granddaughter fondly recalls her first real movie in a theater with her dad. They went to see Piglet's Big Movie. Her father, my son, remembers Superman in the huge cinema in Long Beach, Calif., December 1978. I couldn't afford the tickets and snacks, so I packed peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and a thermos of milk, sneaking it inside in my giant handbag. For months afterward, I'd have to pin towels, aka capes, to my little boy's shirts so he could "fly around" like Superman.

All of this came before we had concerns about being vulnerable in public places. But, I'll tell you one thing: We won't be scared into staying home. We are Americans! Our pastime activities help us survive our stressful busy lifestyles. It is true that going to the movies costs a great deal of money today, which is why we are probably much more selective on which ones we are willing to plank down the debit card for. But we love movies. Heck, there's a movie out now that was partially filmed in Onset last summer! Making and watching films is part of our American culture. Long live the movies!

"We work together so cohesively in Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester, that it only made sense to get everyone together to meet each other," Ballinger said. "Our main goal is to get residents and EMS, Police and Fire acquainted not just professionally, but in a friendly way, too. We're able to do that because of the three communities coming together."

Super Duper Day for Fair in Marion

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

The weather was perfect for the First Congregational Church of Marion's Super Duper Summer Fair, held on Saturday. The event was chaired by Lee Dougall and Judith Coykendall, both Marion residents.

"We started planning for this back in January," Coykendall said.

Hundreds of people came to the fair, which started at 10:00 am and ended at 2:00 pm. People lined up outside the wrought iron fence of the church, waiting for the first crack at the popular elephant table, which featured hundreds of donated items of all types. When the clock struck 10, the gates opened.

In total, there were 20 different stations, including candy, baked goods, cheese, plants, flowers, blueberries, free trade coffee and olive oil, fine gifts, arts and crafts, cotton candy, frozen foods, nautical items and books.

Other stations offered children's activities including face painting, crafts, a bounce house, hole-in-one golfing, make a puppet station, a dunk tank, a cupcake walk, throw a ball through a clown face, and fishing in a pool for prizes. A silent auction featured antique furniture, unique prints, gift certificates, one-of-a-kind paintings by local artists, an antique tea kettle and brass bookends.

Lunch was offered all day and included hot dogs, cheeseburgers, lobster rolls, chicken wraps, fish kabobs, lemonade, water, iced tea and chips. Music was played while the Master of Ceremonies, Ken Hanson, encouraged patrons to visit the various stations and enjoy lunch. Music was a big theme this year, with the Showstoppers and the Harpoon Harmonizers Barber Shoppers

Animal Advice

Jay Gould, DVM

Parrot

My parrot only likes the sunflower seeds in her seed mix. How can I get her to eat the other seeds?

I equate an all seed diet to an all white bread diet. OK in the short run, but severely deficient over time. Seeds lack Vitamin A and a number of essential minerals.

What should I feed my parrot?

Feed a pelleted bird food. It looks like dry dog or cat food but is smaller and is formulated for birds. To this add fresh fruits and vegetables. Offer the seeds for 10 minutes in the morning and 10 minutes in the evening and leave the pellets, fruit and veggies available for the rest of the day.

The organizers of the fair opened the church for anyone who wanted to go inside. "Some people in Marion have never seen the inside of this beautiful church, so we are giving them the opportunity to see it today," Bob Jones said. "Of course, they are welcome any Sunday at 10:00 am, also."

"The weather is great, and there are smiles all around," Mike Kenny said. "This is a true church fair, with everyone working and enjoying the day."

Bob Shaw, who manned the nautical table, called it a "smashing affair" and said that there were many more items donated this year than in years past.

The fair first started back in the 1920s, when the lady quilters ran out of room for their sewing event and brought it outside. People strolled by and asked if the quilts were for sale. The ladies started selling quilts, plants, baked goods, fudge and unwanted household items. Eventually, they decided to have one large sale once a year.

At 2:00 pm, volunteers started cleaning up, with almost everything sold out.

"I've been working with the fair for over 10 years, and this is the first time we've run out of food," Jones said. "Luckily, it's almost the end of the fair day."

Jones gave the fair a theme of "Proud to be an American." Many of the volunteers wore red, white and blue clothing.

"Tomorrow, we start planning for the 2014 fair," said Jones said, adding that 2013 edition was a "rousing success."

attendees at the Sippican Lands Trust Beach Blast held last Thursday evening.

"This is our 13th Bash, and we have a terrific turnout tonight," said Yelena Sheynin, Head Steward for the SLT, as she collected tickets.

Robin Shields, Executive Director of the SLT, enthusiastically welcomed the crowd as they stood in line for a tasty southern barbeque including vegetarian options. A steel band played in the tent and children enjoyed the face painting, a magician and a balloon entertainer. A cash bar was available offering wine, beer, soft drinks and water.

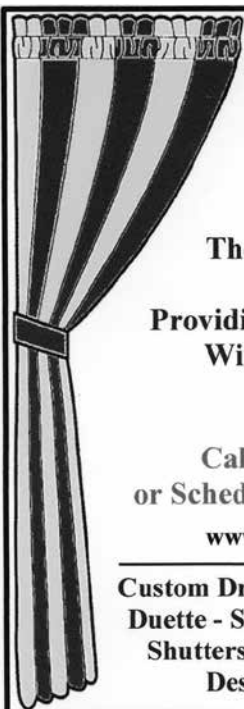

Many took advantage of the clearing skies and wandered down to Silvershell Beach to play in the sand or enjoy the sunset.

"We call this a 'friend-raiser,'" Shields said. "This year, with me coming in as the new Executive Director, it's a true pleasure to bring back the Bash [after there was none in 2012]. We kept our ticket prices affordable, so anyone can come."

Shields is focusing on improving public access to the property owned by the SLT.

"Next year will be our 40th anniversary as a trust, which shows how forward-thinking Marion was back in 1974 to establish this organization," Shields said. The SLT wants families, hikers, walkers, dog walkers and children to come and experience walks on the properties.

"We are doing yoga, story walks, family picnics,

Thursday night. Several abutters sent letters of support for the project, while the majority of those attending the meeting spoke in opposition of it.

Mahoney was represented by David Davignon of Schneider & Associates, and presented a revision of the original plan presented at the previous Zoning Board of Appeals meeting held in June. The revised plan showed a different setback at the corner of Dexter and Wilson Roads, an intersection that neighbors said was dangerous for children in the neighborhood.

"We've pulled the build 7 feet from Dexter and 4.2 feet from Wilson," Davignon said, "and the driveway is now a single lane, 12 feet off the property line."

In addition, the town bylaws allow a four-bedroom home, while the original plans showed a five-bedroom home, which was also amended in the revised plans.

"What is the height?" asked member Betsy Dunn.

"From roof peak to average grade is 32.8 feet,"

Davignon replied. The home will sit above the five and a half foot base due to newly enacted National Flood Insurance Act requirements.

"This home is overwhelming for such a small lot," Karen Molson said. "This opens the door for overbearing homes, which forces the neighborhood to lose privacy and sunlight." The total lot size is 2,186 square feet and the proposed house would cover 31.5 percent of the lot.

"It appears scale is an issue after hearing from abutters," Chairman Eric Pierce said. The Board agreed to revisit the neighborhood and take the proposal under consideration. A public hearing will be held at 8:00 pm on August 8.

In other business, a public hearing was held with Baywatch Realty Trust, who presented revised plans for the 96-unit 40B project, which includes 36 single-family homes and 600 apartments located in two large buildings on the property.

The lengthy wooden bridge access (shading valuable wetlands) to and from the proposed Baywatch Realty Trust property on Route 105/Front Street in Marion was eliminated from the revised plans presented on Thursday at the Marion Zoning Board of Appeals meeting.

The presentation by Kenneth Steen of Kenneth Steen Real Estate Inc. and Edward Gless of Existing Grade, both representing Baywatch Realty Trust, shows a revised plan eliminating the bridge and presenting a new access adjacent to The Wave Restaurant, recently acquired from owner Todd Zell. The revised plans show an access point coming in and on property adjacent to the restaurant parking area, now in a wooded area. None of the existing parking of The Wave Restaurant would be impacted by the project.

The other substantial change in plans was the roadway in, out and through the proposed development. The previous roadway varied from 22 feet to 24 feet. At issue was whether a 49-foot ladder fire truck could make its way through the complex with the existing landscape design in an effective and timely manner. The new design has the entire project having a 24-foot street width.

"We needed to have a full 24-foot street width and a 100-foot turning radius for fire trucks that could handle a fire in the area with this density," said Building Inspector Scott Shippee. "I'm glad to see that you've addressed this concern."

The Board was advised by Town Counsel Jon Whitten to take the proposal under advisement, rather than approve it, because the town wanted to see the document that shows that the newly purchased land is under agreement and actually purchased. A motion was made to continue the hearing to August 8.

In other business, the Board heard from Will Saltonstall and Ginny and Matthew Stelmach, Jr. of 5 Spinnaker Lane to allow the construction of a sunroom and garage addition. Several abutters attended and helped explain the confusion over town water service to the neighborhood. Abutters said that a water service line cuts across the Stelmach's property and to the north side of the proposed addition. Also, an existing septic system needed to be dealt with under the new plans. The Board agreed to take it under advisement and work to get more details on exactly where the water service connections are on Spinnaker Lane.

House to Be Moved on Delano Road

Marion Conservation Commission

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

A house dating to 1690 at 370 Delano Road will be moved to another location on the same property. Owners Thomas and Susan Dexter presented their plans to the Commission and said that the dwelling would be moved from 370 Delano Road to 366 Delano Road onto a new foundation south of the old dwelling. A 14-by-20-foot addition and a deck between the existing dwelling and the moved dwelling will be built.

In other business, the Commission took under consideration a Request for Determination of Applicability to demolish and reconstruct a dwelling at 16 South Street, as well as construct a gravel driveway to access the new garage.

Next up was a discussion about a Notice of Intent for a six-acre parcel on Planting Island to landscape. The proposed work includes trimming or removal of select trees, underbrush, and ground cover, and the replacement of said vegetation as shown on the Landscape Design Plan presented to the Conservation Commission. A spirited discussion followed the presentation, and the Commission agreed to revisit the extensive property and meet again with the owners.

In committee, the group agreed to respond in favor of the Marion Zoning Board of Appeals request for comments regarding the request to slightly relocate the access road/ driveway in order to eliminate the bridge entry into the proposed complex.

mooring in the harbor since 1994, went to the meeting at Field's suggestion to voice his concern about the limited number of "out-of-town" dingy permits. He said that if one isn't able to be in the area on the evening of January 1 each year, you'd miss the January 2 rush to secure one of the five permits issued each year.

There ensued numerous suggestions brought forward by the Committee members, but most were either too far from Berginer's mooring location or required a resident parking permit, which Beringer cannot obtain.

Field concurred that there is a line on January 2 for one of the precious permits and that it had always been this way. But it was also pointed out that since increasing the number of moorings in the harbor, this important matter of non-resident dingy permits has not increased along with them.

Member Carlos DeSousa made a motion to review this issue along with all rules and regulations and to have the entire document completed and ready for implementation by late October. This was seconded.

In the meantime, Beringer will work with Field to find an accommodation once a site is agreed upon for his dingy and the safety of his motor vehicle during his overnight stays in the harbor.

Next, member Walter Reid gave his subcommittee report on what other towns in the area are charging for various marine activity fees. This matter has been discussed during previous monthly meetings in an effort to bring the Board of Selectmen reasonable increase suggestions. Reid recently spoke to the Fairhaven Harbormaster and learned that this town wished to keep costs low for residents so that the average family would not be priced out of enjoying the water. For instance, they do not have mooring fees but do charge residents $1 per foot as a waterways usage fee and $4 per foot for nonresidents using their resource for more than 14 days per year. Fairhaven does have an active commercial fishing fleet, which helps to subsidize the town's financial needs for water-related budget items. Several more towns still need to be polled before the subcommittee will be prepared with their complete report and recommendations.

Regarding infrastructure work, Field said that electrical work had begun at the piers but is scaled back due to only receiving $100,000 during Town Meeting – about a $30,000 shortfall from his estimated needs for this project. Work on the pilings has not begun yet, but will soon, he said.

Field also shared that the two interns from Mass Maritime Academy were working out well and that he had hired Wayne Ferreira as part-time assistant harbormaster; this action is helping with the long days and weekend workload during the busy summer season.

Finally, the Committee discussed the need for clearer markers in the harbor for the recreational area, which would help with safety and clarity for those wishing to water ski and participate in other high-speed water activities. The need for more “no wake” signage in those areas currently deemed so was also discussed. Early morning boaters are moving through the no wake area near the recreational area too fast, which is unacceptable under the current rules.

The next meeting is August 29 at 7:00 pm.

Committee meeting, only 49 responses had been received. Don't start complaining when things are happening to your town that you don't like. Express your feelings as to how Open Space should be managed in your town. Don't just be sheep and allow someone else to make your decisions. Go to the town website and click on the button that says "Open Space Survey" and answer the questions. It might take five minutes to complete. And it might have a lasting effect on your home.

To the Editor:

About two weeks ago, you ran a letter from a reader complaining about dog feces on Ned's Point Road. I walk on that road every day with my dog and rarely ever see any dog droppings. However, I do see miscellaneous paper cups, napkins, wrappers, etc., from local fast-food restaurants. Perhaps town resources should be used to clean up the street rather than harassing local dog owners.

Café Parlez's selection for July is The Paris Wife by Paula McLain. We will be discussing this book on August 29 at 6:30 pm. In 1920s Chicago, 28-year-old Hadley Richardson has given up on marriage until she meets Ernest Hemingway. They marry and move to Paris to live the Bohemian lifestyle, where Ernest tries to write, and they both live fast and hard. The demands of life with Ernest start to catch up with Hadley, and, despite their loving bond, they experience the ultimate crisis of their marriage. Based on a true story and full of colorful characters from literature, this book brings that period and the lives of Ernest and Hadley Hemingway to life. Books are available at the desk, or bring your own copy. Café Parlez is sponsored by the Friends of Plumb Library.

Town of Marion Announcement

Insects can carry a variety of diseases, so it's best to avoid them whenever possible. If you work outdoors, or if you plan to spend significant amounts of time outdoors, here are some tips to avoid mosquitoes and ticks:

Protect your body to reduce chances of being bitten by mosquitoes and ticks. Cover your skin as much as possible in lightweight, loose-fitting clothing. Mosquitoes are attracted to darker clothing, so wear light colors if possible;

Use spray only on exposed skin or on the outside of clothing. To apply to your face, spray into your hands, then apply. Avoid spraying repellent in open wounds or on irritated skin. If working in sunlight, apply sunscreen before insect repellent;

For additional protection against ticks, use an insect repellent that contains permethrin; however, be sure to wash and dry clothes in high temperatures after work;

Be diligent about checking for ticks on your skin and clothing – if you discover a tick, remove immediately with tweezers.

The Showstoppers Need Your Help

The Showstoppers singing troupe has been sharing their time and talent delivering live musical entertainment to the community on a volunteer basis for several years, but now they need the community's support. They are gearing up for their August 8 Walt Disney World performance at the Waterside Stage in Downtown Disney and are $4,000 short of their fundraising goal.

They have set up an online fundraising campaign in an attempt to raise the remaining funds needed to offset some of their travel expenses. Donations can be made up until August 8 by visiting www.gofundme.com and typing in "Showstoppers Walt Disney World Performance" to make a tax-deductible donation.

The performance troupe, comprised of 29 talented boys and girls from the local area who range in age from 6 to 19, delivers more than 50 shows per year at nursing homes, senior centers, fairs and festivals, community fundraisers and other civic events. This year they have been rewarded with an invitation to perform in Disney World, just as the troupe before them did five years ago.

"This is such a fitting reward for an amazing group of kids who bring so much joy to others through song. They are not just performance-loving kids; they

At 9:00 pm, guests will be treated to a sneak preview of the film, New Bedford Through the Years, a montage of vintage film clips made between 1919 and 1963, and edited for Spinner by local photographer John Robson. The film features exciting footage of downtown street scenes, trolley rides, waterfront activity, factory interiors, parades and more.

A Picture History of New Bedford is the first extensive city history to appear in decades. Its two volumes capture the city's journey through hundreds of photographs and stories. The first volume spans from 1602 to 1925 and traces New Bedford's story from native Wampanoag hunting ground, straight-laced Quaker enclave and world-class whaling powerhouse to

Old Colony Teacher Attends Camp

Old Colony's Metal Fabrication and Joining teacher, Kris Garcia, attended the first-ever ASM Materials Science camp at Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston during the second week of July. Twenty-two teachers, mainly science teachers or technical-education teachers, attended the 5-day workshop. They learned the basics of Materials Science and its applications, and conducted many labs and activities which elucidated the properties of materials, and which are low-cost and suitable for students.

30 Years Experience

59 Nestles Lane, Acushnet (508) 998-9964

Materials Science involves physics, chemistry and engineering and is called "the enabling technology": most inventions rely on some new material with special properties. New England is a center of Materials Science research and development work, and there is always a need for experts in this field. All those attending said at the end of the week, that they had learned many new ways to engage their students in the coming school year, and they thought that many of the activities would be "fun and fascinating" for the students, and easy to integrate into their lessons.

The camp was free for the teachers. Major contributions to the camp's organization were made by the Educational Foundation, and the Boston and Rhode

Keel Awards

The Wanderer would like to acknowledge all of the Tri-Town residents who submitted nominations for our 20th Annual Keel Awards, celebrating the selfless service of community leaders from Marion, Mattapoissett, and Rochester. Thank you!

Here, once again, are our 2013, announced in last week's issue. Let's hear one more round of applause for ...

Rodney Hunt, Marion: Without Hunt, Marion would have a hard time matching the success of its Memorial Day and Fourth of July Parades during the past decade. "When you have the kind of help I have, it all works," said the veteran and retired social services worker. "I enjoy the parade planning. People are happy at the parade and really enjoy all the music, floats, clowns, antique tractors, horses, and antique autos. It's a happy time for everyone, and that makes all the work worthwhile."

Kevin J. Woodward, Rochester: Woodward led the charge to construct a playground at Rochester Memorial School, which breaks ground on Aug. 10. "We tried to raise some money to build something that will service our kids at the schools," said Woodward, whose team succeeded and then some. "I'm super fortunate to have had the backing of this kind of community."

Ellen Flynn, Mattapoissett: Flynn is a force for good in Mattapoissett, volunteering her services as a leader, activist, and educator at a multitude of organizations around town. "I am very touched by the 2013 Mattapoissett Keel Award for service to the Tri-Town and would like to express my gratitude to all the people who have encouraged me and helped me during my many events of volunteering," Flynn said. "I find it is the cooperation of working with many people who create the force behind the success of doing volunteer work. I am lucky to have the experiences."

Thank you to all those who do so much for our communities

Jane Porter Ryder, 94, died Sunday evening, July 21 at Moorings Park in Naples, FL. Previously a resident of Marion, Attleboro MA and Naples, she was the wife of the late Frank J. Ryder, Jr., jewelry manufacturer and real estate developer.

Celebrations of her well-lived and loved life will be held at the Bower Chapel Moorings Park on August 13th at 11 AM and at St. Gabriel's Church Marion, MA later in the fall.

A descendent of original Mayflower settlers, Jane was born in Boston and grew up in Campello (Brockton) and Monument Beach, MA. The second of four daughters born to Alice Hastings Porter and Clinton Jackson Porter, she is survived by her sister, Suzanne Porter Wilkins of Williamstown, MA. Three children also survive her-- Suzanne R. Herriman, Frank J. Ryder III, and Tyler R. Ryder-- as well as eight grandchildren, four great grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews. Beloved sisters Louise P. Bahnson and Mary P. Buddington predeceased her in 2001 and 2003.

A graduate of Edgewood Park School, Briarcliff Manor, NY and Erskine Junior College in MA, she worked as an interior designer in Boston in the early 1940's prior to the start of World War II when she aided the war effort by becoming a reservationist for American Airlines. She was later an independent representative for Tropitone Furniture for more than 30 years.

Jane married Frank Jenkins Ryder, Jr. of Attleboro, MA. in 1943 and dedicated her whimsical 2005 auto biography to him. They were married for 57 years, and she credited him with giving her—"the happiest most meaningful life I could have ever imagined."

Jane discovered oil painting at age 50 and became passionate about creating impressionist art; modeling and experimenting to get the perfect effect of color and light in her work. She took art classes and workshops in Florida and Maine later displaying and selling paintings at art fairs. One of her last projects--a mural of "Marion Life" completed in 2007 captures turn-of-the-century muralist traditions and celebrates the town she lived in and loved.

A crack bridge player into her late 80's, golfer, tennis player, prolific gardener, and talented flower arranger, Jane was an extraordinary and generous mother, great grandmother and friend. Jane loved her family, her many devoted friends and all she met believing, "kindness and thoughtfulness foster happiness, and satisfaction."

At her request, her body has been donated to medical science research.

Memorial donations may be considered to St. Gabriel's Church Marion, MA or to a charity of one's choice.

MOVIE REVIEW

Comic Classic

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

The Wolverine.* Starring Hugh Jackman and Rila Fukushima. Directed by James Mangold. Running time: 136 minutes. MPAA rating: PG-13.

When writer Chris Claremont and artist Frank Miller collaborated on the four-issue Wolverine mini-series in 1982, it was more or less immediately received as the definitive Wolverine story, and in many quarters still retains that status. It took the X-Men's runaway fan favorite and gave him new depth and vulnerability while keeping his mystique. In the story, Wolverine, or Logan, went to Japan, where his old flame Mariko has been forced into marriage to an abusive weasel. The real villain of the tale is Mariko's father Shingen, who gets into a teasing wooden-sword fight with a drugged Logan. About to lose the duel, Logan pops his razor-sharp adamantium claws to defend himself, and Logan's narration explains that Shingen has manipulated this whole encounter to make Logan look cowardly in front of Mariko: "I couldn't dishonor myself more in her eyes if I tried," Logan mopes.

There's nothing comparable to that painful moment in The Wolverine, which takes bits and pieces from the Claremont/Miller story — the Tokyo setting, some character names — but goes afield for a more sci-fi narrative in which Logan (Hugh Jackman) saves a Japanese soldier, Yashida, from being obliterated in Nagasaki in 1945, then is summoned to visit the now-dying man decades later. Yashida has become the head of a major tech corporation, and he has been trying to cheat death; Logan, with his mutant power of instant self-healing, may be the old guy's ticket to immortality. Mariko now becomes Yashida's granddaughter, and there's no love or even much affection between her and Logan. So basically Logan is pulled into the story not by his heart but by a guy who's afraid to die.

There's also some gibberish involving a character named Viper (Svetlana Khodchenkova), who takes away Logan's healing powers by breathing toxic fumes on him or something, and embedding some sort of spider around his heart. The movie does bring in the assassin Yukio (Rila Fukushima), who in the comics fell in love with Logan and was jealous of his sappy attachment to Mariko, but here comes across as a sexless anime cosplayer with a bright red wig. I don't know how you start with such a simple, effective story as the Claremont/Miller series, take out whatever's interesting, and throw in stuff that doesn't belong in this or any story.

The director-for-hire here is James Mangold, who started out telling small, human stories (Heavy, Girl Interrupted, Cop Land, Walk the Line) and in recent years (Knight and Day and this) just seems to have given up. In Marvel Comics' heyday, there was a cynical maxim: "You don't work for comics unless you work for Marvel." Nowadays it's more like "You don't work for Hollywood unless you work for Marvel." The sequence most people will point to as a highlight unfolds atop a bullet train going 300 miles an hour, with Logan and various assassins stumbling around trying to stay attached to the roof with knives or claws. It's fun, and contains some of the rare levity in an otherwise humorless movie, but it's just there as an action beat; it doesn't establish or strengthen character. All that money, all those CGI techs working into the night, and it doesn't pack a fraction of the impact of a wooden-sword battle between two men in the comic.

So instead of working Logan's emotions, the movie seeks to make him vulnerable by sapping his powers of healing. This means he gets shot and stabbed a bunch of times, but still doesn't die. It also means that he somehow doesn't bleed to death every time he pops his claws, which emerge from the backs of his hands; we're to understand that in his usual mode, the flesh heals around the claws when they're out and seals up again when he retracts the claws. The climax involves a huge Silver Samurai also made out of adamantium, and by then the movie has abandoned pretty much any interest in making this a story about Logan, or a story about anything.

Boldly photographed (by Ross Emery) and scored (by Marco Beltrami), The Wolverine at least looks like more of a real movie than the awful previous solo Logan effort, 2009's X-Men Origins: Wolverine. By virtue of basing itself glancingly upon one of the seminal Wolverine stories instead of one of the most useless and uncalled-for Wolverine stories, the movie gets comparatively high marks, but only because it follows such a stinker. And this is yet another comic-book movie in which dozens of people are slashed and stabbed to death and we see nary a pinprick's worth of blood. In his early days, when comics still had to abide by the violence-phobic Comics Code, Logan had to get around becoming a mass murderer by subduing his enemies in more oblique ways. But in a PG-13 movie, apparently it's perfectly fine for Logan to shish-kebab everyone within reach, as long as you don't show the thirteen-year-olds of America what those claws would actually do to a human being — or to the powerless Logan's hands, for that matter.

Kvarnstrom feels that "Each person is uniquely individual, possessing a singular experience of the world exclusive to him or her. Painting makes it possible to explore and communicate this experience. Giving voice to this individual experience constitutes true creativity." He feels that his role as a teacher is to draw upon his years as a painter to guide and encourage each class participant in finding his or her individual voice.

His teaching proceeds from the premise that we learn to paint by painting. This includes a belief in the efficacy of painting directly, relying on observation to form and explore relationships of paint, color, form, space, shape and line. These elements constitute the language of painting. The relationships formed are the means of expression.

No two people will utilize the same elements or form the same relationships in precisely the same way. Therefore, these are the keys to developing a personal voice. As such, they will be the focus of attention and discussion.

The Marion Art Center Gallery is located at 80 Pleasant Street (corner of Main and Pleasant) and is open on Tuesday through Friday from 1:00 to 5:00 pm and on Saturdays from 10:00 am until 2:00 pm. Admission is free and open to the public.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) With new facts to work with, you should feel more confident in moving ahead. But continue to do so at an unhurried pace so you can spot details you might otherwise miss.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Taking on that new workplace project could be one of your smarter career moves. Expect a surprising show of support from someone who had always been a critic.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You might feel you're too busy to undertake a new responsibility. But check it out before making any decisions. What you learn could persuade you to change your mind.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You feel quite content enjoying all the comforts of home right now. But the urge to travel grows stronger, and by week's end, you could begin packing your bags.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A hectic period begins to ease up, but that doesn't mean the Fine Feline can do much catnapping these days. You need to finish those old tasks and prepare for new ones.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Expect to get some good news about your financial situation by week's end. But it could still be too early to rush out with a long shopping list of things to buy.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your management skills make an impression on some workplace VIPs who might be looking for someone like you to take on an upcoming project. Good luck.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Meeting a former adversary might be unsettling at first. But time has softened hard feelings, and you could be on the brink of starting a new relationship.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A troubling situation close to home might cause you to change your travel plans. But getting all the facts before you act might cause you to reconsider.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You might be quite alone right now in deciding to support a major workplace shift. But others will join you as new information supports your bold move.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A former co-worker returns with news that could persuade you to reassess recently made plans. Be sure to consult with a trusted colleague before you act.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your motives behind a recent decision could be called into question by a rival. But once you present the facts, all doubts will be resolved. Enjoy an arts-rich weekend.

BORN THIS WEEK: While you love being the center of attention, your generous heart allows you to share the attention with others.

Millicent Library Teddy Bear Parade

The Millicent Library's 29th Annual Teddy Bear Parade will take place on Wednesday, August 7 at 10:00 am at the corner of Center and Walnut Streets on the Unitarian Church Lawn across from the library. The traditional parade concludes the 2013 Summer Reading Program, Dig Into Reading! Daisy D. Dots will once again paint faces before and after the parade.

Children and families will march with the Big Teddy Bear down Union Street to Our Ladies Haven to wave hello to the residents there before heading back on Center Street to picnic on the church lawn. The library will provide juice boxes and Teddy Grahams. Bring your own additional snacks, lunch and drinks to enjoy. In the event of rain, the event will take place indoors at the Town Hall Auditorium.

The Millicent Library's Youth Services Librarian, Ms. Jane, will be accepting reading logs on or before August 7. Summer programs continue right up until Teddy Bear Parade Day, followed by a break until school starts. Fall Storytimes will resume the first week of September. The library is handicapped accessible.

Council, which then allocates funds to each local council. Each fall, schools, libraries and community organizations are invited to submit grant applications to the Council to fund arts programs, public performances and events related to the humanities and sciences.

Grants awarded by the council last year included support for the Plumb Library's summer reading program, the Rochester Country Fair, a historical fashion exhibit by the Rochester Historical Society, and entertainment for volunteer appreciation day at the Rochester Council on Aging. Regional arts organizations receiving grants included the Tri-County Music Association, the Acushnet Classical Ensemble and the South Coast Children's Chorus.

"The volunteers on the Rochester Cultural Council are a great group of people who really enjoy supporting arts and culture in town, and programs of interest to both children and adults," Barboza said. "We look forward to welcoming some new members to the Council; anyone interested in the arts should apply."

The Cultural Council generally meets twice a year on weekday evenings to review grant applications and approve awards. Anyone interested in serving on the Council should send a letter of interest to the Rochester Cultural Council, 1 Constitution Way, Rochester, MA. Application letters will be forwarded to the Board of Selectmen, the appointing authority for Council members.

Friends of the Mattapoissett Bike Path

What makes a "Bicycle Friendly Community"? Come to our Friends of the Mattapoissett Bike Path meeting to find out.

We will meet at 6:30 pm on Tuesday, August 13 at the Mattapoissett Free Library, 8 Barstow Street. We need a core group of volunteers to work on this nationally recognized designation. If you can't come, but want to know more or get involved, call Bonne DeSousa at 508-951-2406.

A Bicycle Friendly Community welcomes cyclists with trails, bike lanes, share the road campaigns, organized rides, Bike to Work Day events and so much more. The application process provides a road map and a set of activities that recognize our area's unique resources. We will evaluate and engage the town in improving infrastructure and encouraging people to bike for recreation and transportation (errands, shopping, commuting). Bicycling isn't just a way to get from one place to another; a bike is a ticket to health, mobility, freedom and fun. Thank you everyone who visited our booth at Harbor Days!

Southcoast Blood Bank Needs Type O Blood

The Southcoast Blood Bank at St. Luke's Hospital is in urgent need of Type O blood and asks the community to donate blood to help build up the supply. Type O blood is used in emergency situations when the blood type of the patient is unknown. In the summer, people are more active, which leads to an increased number of bicycle, motorcycle, boating and pedestrian accidents. At the same time, blood donations are much lower during the summer months because so many people are on vacation or are busy with other summertime activities. As a direct result, Type O blood is at critically low levels and is in need of replenishment. As always, all blood types are welcome and are greatly appreciated at Southcoast.

Amber Waves

Southcoast Blood Bank has updated their donating requirements to make donating more convenient. Under the updated requirements, only one photo ID is required and the deferral period for donors with new tattoos has been eliminated for those individuals who received their tattoo from a state regulated entity with sterile one-time use needles and non-reused ink. For those who are unsure if they meet this requirement, the 12-month deferral period will still apply. The updated regulations continue to meet all FDA and AABB donor guidelines.

You have a choice! Donate local. The Southcoast Blood Bank is the only blood donation venue that directly supports the South Coast communities' blood supply. When you donate blood at a Southcoast-sponsored blood drive, you are helping to keep your local blood supply strong – so it is there when you need it.

You can donate at Community Blood Drives; Southcoast hosts blood drives throughout the region on the Southcoast Health Van and at local businesses. To schedule a free blood drive, please call Catherine Alegria, Southcoast Blood Donor Coordinator, at 508-993-0430 or by email at alegriac@southcoast.org. Individuals can also donate at the Southcoast Blood Bank located at St. Luke's Hospital, 101 Page Street, New Bedford, off the main lobby. Walk-ins are welcome Monday through Friday from 8:00 am to 4:00 pm, Wednesdays 9:00 am to 7:00 pm,

PET PICK

Send Your Pet Pictures and Stories in Today!

This is Jazzy. He is 11 years old. We adopted him from a shelter Forever Paws in Fall River. We adopted him on July 4th last year. He has been diagnosed with diabetes. Since he has started taking insulin he has gone blind due to cataracts. He is also losing his hearing. We are so happy to have Jazz in our life. It's been a rough road and it's going to be a rough future. But we love him so much and glad he is part of our lives. Sadly Jazz has gone to heaven on July 17, 2013. R.I.P.

Each week we will showcase pets from the TriTown and the stories behind them. Send in your pet pictures and stories so we can share them with all our readers. ### Summer Adventures in Learning

The Old Rochester Regional School District is pleased to offer its summer enrichment program for 2013. The goal of the program, which serves students pre-K to grade nine, is to increase student learning in a fun and positive way! The SAIL program is open to Tri-Town residents and to summer Tri-Town residents as well. Each summer session will run for three weeks. Session B will run from through August 8. The program will run Tuesday-Thursday from 8:30 am to 12:00 pm. The SAIL program will be held at the ORR Jr./Sr. High School. SAIL courses will incorporate strategies such as problem solving, critical thinking, writing, reading, math and collaboration with peers. For more information and registration, visit the Old Rochester Regional website at www.oldrochester.org or contact the Program Co-Directors: Holly Ashley (hashley@orr.mec.edu) or Charles

Mattapoisett Passes and Permits

Parking Passes and Shellfish Permits are now available in the Treasurer/Collector's Office. The traditional Parking Sticker for Mattapoisett residents and property owners is being replaced with a Parking Pass Placard to be hung on a vehicle's rearview mirror. The placard should make it easier for the enforcing departments to identify vehicles that are not in compliance with the parking rules and regulations.

A Parking Pass, which costs $10, is required for parking at the following locations: Town Landing (off Mattapoisett Neck Road), Shining Tides Beach (End of Reservation Road), Hiller's Cove Beach (off Aucoot Road), Town Beach (Water Street) and Town Wharf (Shipyard Park – Water Street). Proof of current vehicle registration is required for purchasing a Parking Pass. In addition, non-resident property owners must provide proof of property ownership; and year-round renters must provide a valid lease.

New for 2013 is the Guest Parking Pass, for use by family members and summer renters. The Guest Parking Pass must be displayed on the vehicle's rearview mirror and is transferrable from vehicle to vehicle. Guest Parking Passes can be purchased by a property owner for $35, upon the purchase of at least one regular Parking Pass. Guest Passes are not replaceable and are not valid at the Town Wharf.

Shellfish Permits/Buttons are available for Mattapoisett residents and property owners for $25. For Rochester and Marion residents, the cost is $35, which includes a special Shellfishing Parking Pass Placard that must be displayed on the vehicle's rearview mirror. Proof of residency or property ownership is required to purchase a Shellfish Permit. For all other non-residents, the cost is $135, which also includes the Shellfishing Parking Pass.

I Found the Aardvark!

Each week, hidden somewhere in the pages of The Wanderer is a tiny drawing of an aardvark. The little guy you are looking for looks exactly like the one pictured above (but don't put down this page as your answer, there's another one hidden somewhere in this issue).

Once you find the aardvark you can submit your answer online and if you are right you will get Aardvark Points! You can then use these points to get cool Aardvark Prizes!

To enter visit: www.wanderer.com and Click on I Found the Aardvark
In the July 25, 2013 issue the Aardvark was on page 16~
